This is the final announcement of the 24th International Spin Symposium (SPIN2021). The symposium will be held in October 18-22, 2021 in a hybrid style. Unfortunately, overseas participants will not be able to attend on-site. Only participants from Japan will be accepted to participate on-site at the venue, Kunibiki Messe in Matsue City, but online participation is also possible.

If you are not giving a talk, you can attend the symposium with no registration fee. Please register on the Indico website:

<https://indico2.riken.jp/event/3082/registrations>

before October 15.

If you are giving a talk, a registration fee is charged for conference proceedings publication and other purposes. If you have not registered yet, please do so as soon as possible.

Hybrid Style

The symposium will be held via Zoom. Zoom information will be sent to registrants only at a later date prior to the symposium.

Program

The program is organized according to the timetable shown at:

<https://indico2.riken.jp/event/3082/page/275-scientific-programme>

taking into consideration the convenience of online participation from Europe and the United States, respectively. The latest timetable is posted on the Indico agenda:

<https://indico2.riken.jp/event/3082/timetable>

Speakers are requested to upload their slides on the Indico agenda at least 24 hours prior to their presentation. The Indico agenda is open to the public.

Chat room

We plan to use online networking services such as Spatial Chat or oVice to provide opportunities for participants to interact with each other. This information will also be sent to registered attendees.

Proceedings

The proceedings of the SPIN2021 symposium will include plenary and parallel oral presentations. It will be published in the peer reviewed JPS Conference Proceedings.

Contact

Please email to contact-spin2021@ml.riken.jp if you have any problem or question.

Onsite Information (Only for domestic participants)

Travel and accommodation

The venue of the symposium is Kunibiki Messe Convention Center:
